

May the coming year bring you:

Boldness in finding and following your dreams.

Richness in your internal life.

Joy in whatever path your life takes you.

A deepening of the relationships with those most significant to you.

Fulfillment of your deepest desires.

Enough health to enjoy life; enough wealth to share.

Contentment in the place you find yourself, but not so much that you do not seek to grow.

A new understanding of the world around you.

Eyes to see clearly, ears to hear the truth, the ability to do that which you are called to do.

Growth in compassion and understanding for those outside your circle.

A widening of your world and a widening of your heart.

Peace, hope, and love for yourself and others.

Happy birthday!